Pursuant to the Federal Internal Revenue Code, a public hearing must be conducted by the governmental entity having jurisdiction over the area in which the project is or will be located. Further, since CPFA is issuing the bonds, the approving body must be a member of CPFA. The County meets both of these requirements.

The bonds, when issued, will be limited obligations of CPFA payable solely out of revenues and receipts derived. The financings will be structured so that the County has no financial liability. The bonds will not represent a pledge of the faith or credit of the County.
