BACKGROUND INFORMATION

The Land Use Services Department's Planning Division (Division) verifies that programs, policies, and Development Code standards align with the San Bernardino Countywide Plan (General Plan). The Division oversees a broad range of services related to land use, development, and environmental compliance, including, but not limited to, facilitating the reviews, processing, and approval of land use and development applications within the County's unincorporated areas.

State law requires county long-range planning services, which help promote sustainable community development. The services include the preparation, maintenance, and implementation of comprehensive plans that guide land use, housing, transportation, and environmental policy across the county. Core activities include processing General Plan amendments, updating housing-related legislation, revising the Development Code, and implementing Housing Element programs. State law requires fee revenue to be proportional to the services provided to the fee payer.

Since the Division's long-range planning services benefit the public broadly, rather than individual applicants, they cannot be recovered through applicant fees. Consequently, the Land Use Services' existing ongoing Discretionary General Fund and Land Use Services General Plan/Development Code Amendments reserves support long-range planning services. The Division estimates current year existing ongoing Discretionary General Fund is not sufficient to support the volume and complexity of long-range planning needs, particularly as workload continues to grow due to state-mandated updates, new reporting requirements, community engagement, and multi-year planning initiatives.

State law also requires county compliance with statutory deadlines to provide timely service delivery to planning permit applicants. The Division is managing a backlog of planning permit applications primarily driven by limited internal staffing capacity. Funding for contractor support is necessary to reduce the existing backlog of applications and prevent future accumulation of pending applications. The Land Use Permit Backlog Reserve provides one-time financial resources to help maintain service levels and regulatory compliance during periods of unusually high permitting demand or limited internal capacity.

This item authorizes a $1,800,000 one-time use of existing Land Use Services General Plan/Development Code Amendments reserve and a $4,500,000 one-time use of existing Land Use Permit Backlog reserve to support long-range planning professional services and backlogged planning permit applications, respectively.

PROCUREMENT

Not applicable.
