BACKGROUND INFORMATION

On March 19, 2020, due to COVID-19, California Governor Gavin Newsom issued Executive Order N-33-20, ordering all individuals in California to stay in their place of residence except as needed to maintain continuity of operations of federal critical infrastructure sectors, thereby reducing and stopping non-essential businesses from continuing operations.

On August 28, 2020 Governor Newsom issued a new framework entitled "Blueprint for a Safer Economy" (Blueprint). The Blueprint originally and specifically, requires California's counties to meet stated benchmarks in overall case rates and testing positivity rates in order to move into less restrictive tiers that would allow for a measured reopening of businesses, schools and other activities. On Monday, September 7, 2020, Governor Newsom announced an adjustment to his Blueprint, now including a benchmark on overall testing rates as an added criteria California counties must meet for the reopening of businesses, churches, schools and other activities.

Governor Newsom's adjustments and changes to stated goals and objectives in dealing with COVID-19 complicate county government's ability to manage this crisis, forcing San Bernardino County to change course, re-prioritize, reposition and re-adapt, at great time and expense, straining local personnel and resources.

The recommended resolution states the County of San Bernardino requests Governor Gavin Newsom make the process counties must follow to reopen businesses more stable and predictable, for example by having the testing metric be attached to a fixed number rather than the median testing number of 58 counties. The resolution also asks the Governor to determine that communities in San Bernardino County that have experienced historically low rates of infection be permitted to reopen.
